

Anthony Rivera

Currently my professional career path has allowed me to design, paint, draw and build various projects such as newspapers, labels, web sites, identity packages, magazine inserts, vinyl car decals, large-scale easel displays, calendars and posters, etc. Some projects were completed for non-profit as well as for profit organizations, and some for individual professionals. References are available on request. I hope we can meet and discuss your company and what makes it work from the inside as well as out. Please view my online portfolio at anthonyrivera.net!
